

Presents:

WHAT ARE RESEARCH STUDIES? HOW DO THEY WORK

Would you like to know about research, maybe even find out about how you could be part of research? Then look no further.

Unison Learning Lincs together with Anne Chafer, Senior Clinical Research Practitioner, Lincolnshire Partnership NHS Foundation Trust will be offering FREE places to listen to a presentation over ZOOM, all in the comfort of your own home. When you say? See below:

Date: Wednesday 3rd February
Time: 6 – 7.30 pm
Platform: Zoom (Follow link received when joining)

- Register below to receive the log on details and come along and find out. Anne Chafer will be hosting and can update you with all her knowledge of what research studies are, and how they work. And of course, if you'd like to be part of research, Anne will be on hand to tell you how. The aims of the presentation are;
- To introduce you to the work of the LPFT Mental Health Research Department.
- To clarify how research is embedded in our everyday life.
- To challenge misinformation about clinical trials
- To demystify research jargon
- To show Unison members a typical example of a current clinical trial and invite them to take part.

How to join:

To secure your place on this workshop please email unisonlearninglincs@gmail.com

Not a member? Why not join today to attend this workshop and many more, at:
www.joinunison.org